Grant Recipient: Growing Stage - The Children's Theatre of New Jersey

Location: Netcong Boro.

Built in 1919 as the Palace Theatre, the building is an excellent example of a vernacular interpretation of a grand era in theater design, at a time when live productions were "sharing the stage" with the fledgling movie industry. The building is also significant as an early example of the use of concrete construction in theaters and in its rare use of drapery as a decorative ceiling treatment. Currently utilized as the Growing Stage Theatre for Young Audiences, it is individually listed in both the New Jersey and National Registers of Historic Places.

A Preservation Plan was completed with a 2006 grant.

The 2008 and 2010 grants provided for the restoration and rehabilitation of the front façade, front entrance, two former storefronts, marquee and building cornice.

The 2015 and 2017 grants will provide for the exterior restoration of the building including structural upgrades of roof framing, roof replacement and lighting and awnings installation.
